Baby, It's Cold Outside

Ah, winter! What better way to celebrate than to visit the GreenHill Center for North Carolina Art, which presents its 42nd annual WINTER SHOW December 5 through February 16, 2022.

The two-month exhibition exemplifies GreenHill's focus on cultural diversity, illustrating high levels of creative expression throughout the state. The show features wide-ranging contemporary works in multiple mediums — including paintings, sculpture, photography, ceramics, jewelry, wood and fiber works. The museum's extensive digital catalog and curated visits for small groups complement the sheer artistry on view.

"WINTER SHOW inspires connection and openness to new perspectives," explains Barbara Richter, executive director and chief executive officer of GreenHill. "The exhibition offers coveted access to many of our state's most innovative and thoughtful creators both online and in-person. More than 400 works by emerging and established artists showcase the resilience of our multi-faceted, cultural community."

GreenHill offers a touch of warmth and connection on cold winter days.
